THINGS TO BE INCORPORATED IN REPORT OF OG'S AT VIS

The Commanding Officer, Major Lovell should be removed. Officers and enlisted men say that they never see him except occasionally at retreat. Say he dresses like a British Officer and is British dominated. Does not take care of his men. Lives in the City himself and insists that his men live in the hills. Gets extra food and wood rations for himself but not for his men.

Common complaint was that they needed more work. Gripes on part of both officers and men in regard to promotions that were promised. All were to have parachute training but did not get it with result that some are collecting extra pay for parachute work and others, of course, do not. Misfits should be weeded out. They are using some OSS gadgets but not all. Should be trained to use all of them. There should be some means of enforcing discipline. When men are sent out as bad actors they usually land soft jobs in Bari or some other nice place. One officer who was "kicked out" was sent to China for OSS. Officers of a higher rank should not discipline officers of a lower rank in front of their men.

There is no clear operational policy. No definite administration channel and no OG office in Bari. No one knows whom to report to when they reach Bari. One man says he travelled all over Mediterranean without orders of any kind. Supply lines are bad. They need an aggressive supply man at Bari. British have taken some of their stuff and have never replaced it or paid for it. Men need supplies of all kind - shoes, underwear, other clothing, etc. etc. Look into food situation. One man said all they got were "C" rations. Transportation of our own should be provided. Now we are dependent on British for everything and they are not too cooperative Recommend that men have some sort of entertainment such as movies.

Men do not like insignia they have to wear because they consider it a British Commando insignia. Men also feel that OG's have worn out their welcome with Partisans and now are more of a burden than a help.

Lieut. James King (01309071) wants a transfer out of OSS he is so disgusted.

The Greek group were told that they would be used in Greece and are eager to go there. Say that everything will be OK if they get to Greece. Now feel that OSS has let them down and that they had better go back to the Infantry.

Some arrangement should be made for replacing casualties.

Retreat is blown at VIS but they do not have an American flag to lower.

OFFICE OF STRATEGIC SERVICES

16 April 1944

The Board of Officers appointed by the Director of Strategic Services by secret letter order of 7 March 1944 convened at Villa Sinety at 1015 o'clock for the purposes set forth in the said order.

Colonel F. A. Doniat, a representative of Major General Heard, was invited to sit with the Board in order that the investigation and survey of the Major General Heard Board be coordinated with the investigation being made by this Board. Colonel M. P. Goodfellow, Major Albert Waffle, Medical Officer, Major F. L. Ball, Jr., Recorder, were present at the time the Board convened.

The President of the Board invited the Strategic Services Officer to appoint an observer to sit with the Board during examination of personnel in NATO
Colonel Ellery C. Huntington, Jr., at the invitation of Colonel Goodfellow, was designated by Colonel Glavin to sit with the Board as Colonel Glavin's representative, and joined the Board shortly after the Board convened.

Lt. Col. Thomas Early, Executive Officer, O.S.S. NATOUSA, and Captain Norman Newhouse, Chief of the Secretariat, O.S.S. NATOUSA, were present. A general discussion as to procedure followed, and the Board adjourned to begin interviews at 9099 o'clock, 17 April 1944.

Technical Sergeant Josephine D. Falci was designated recorder for the Board for the purpose of taking and transcribing the proceedings.

Colonel Doniat stated that he knew that O.S.S. had quite a number of installations spread over a large area in and around Algiers and that such a situation took many times the overhead to administer the different factors than would be required if consolidation were made. He stated that he wanted to know how many people O.S.S. has in the Algiers area and how many groups they are divided into and how many Commanding Officers, Adjutants and property personnel were required. He also requested the number of truck drivers and dispatchers, the number of messes and the number of people feeding at each mess. Lt. Col. Early suggested that Colonel Doniat put in his request in the form of a memorandum. Colonel Doniat stated that he would rather state the questions and that the answers could be prepared in written form. Captain Newhouse stated that he did not have the records available at the moment and would have to go to each Branch Chief and Camp Commander to get them.

Colonel Doniat requested the number of vehicles. He was advised by Lt. Col. Early that in his opinion that information had nothing to do with the Manpower Board. Lt. Col. Early stated that O.S.S. has twenty drivers in this Command but that he could not see the relation to the number of people and installations. The answer as to the number of vehicles was not made to Colonel Doniat. Lt. Col. Early, in answer to a request for information as to how much consolidation had been attempted by O.S.S. in the Algiers area, stated that attempts were made to obtain the space formerly occupied by the Air Service Command but that the request for such space had been turned down.

Captain Newhouse then stated that a memorandum containing the information Colonel Doniat requested would be prepared and sent to him with the Services Officer, who would be in a position to explain any information in the memorandum which was not clear and which was desired by Colonel Doniat.
